Self-learning beats the automesher: the trained agent's mesh resolves the corner stress peak that the automesher smears out

